NEWS RELEASE

SAPD OFFICER ARRESTED

On February 16, 2006 detectives with the San Antonio Police Department's Narcotic's Unit executed a search warrant at 14235 Real Delight, San Antonio, Tx. The possibility of discovering illegal narcotics was the reason for the search warrant. Discovered in the home was a small amount of marijuana (under 2 ounces), methamphetamine and cocaine, which was recovered and processed as evidence.

The investigation led detectives to the owner of the home, who is an active San Antonio police officer. That officer, who will be identified after being formally charged, was subsequently arrested and charged with possession of marijuana under 2 ounces (class B misdemeanor). Additional federal charges were filed against the officer's girlfriend for possession of the methamphetamine and cocaine. The case is still very active with the possibility of additional charges being filed against the officer and the officer's girlfriend. The officer will be placed on administrative duty pending the outcome of the criminal and administrative investigation.
